

ProVaR elects it's third Chairman

At last week's AGM ProVaR directors voted in John Hedger as the new chairman, taking over from Charles Carr.

Charles has consolidated ProVaR's position in the industry including the addition of CNB and Kordes as International Breeder members. During his tenure he has contributed considerable time and knowledge in developing the website, which raises ProVaR's profile immensely.

John will continue to strengthen the organisation's role in promoting and licensing new plant varieties, with the aim of increasing the portfolio of plants available to ProVaR members from existing and new breeder members.

ProVaR offers a unique range of over 170 plants to its members which can all be licensed under one simple system with two royalty returns a year.

John is a director at New Place Nurseries in Sussex.
